

OPTICAL COOLING OF GRAM-SCALE MIRRORS

Nergis Mavalvala

Massachusetts Institute of Technology, USA

We describe an experiment in which coupling between intense optical fields and a 1-gram mirror oscillator is used to optically cool the gram-scale object. The same apparatus can also be used to generate squeezed states of light, and to observe other quantum effects in macroscopic systems.