

You can make a difference:

Incorporating inclusive practices into
Astronomy and your day-to-day work life

Prof. Kelle Cruz

Tuesday, February 13th

2pm

Phillips Auditorium

Refreshments will be served

Kelle Cruz is an Associate Professor of Physics and Astronomy at the Hunter College and a Research Associate at the American Museum of Natural History (AMNH). She is currently on sabbatical at the Center for Computational Astrophysics. Her research interests include the study of very low mass stars and brown dwarfs using large surveys and optical and infrared spectroscopy. She is currently serving on the Board of the American Astronomical Society. She is the founder and Editor-in-Chief of the AstroBetter blog and wiki and serves on the Coordination Committee of the Astropy Project. She also recently started ScienceBetter Consulting, a small business dedicated to serving the needs of the scientific community.